DISCOVER THE HERITAGE

A bit of History

Banyuls probably comes from the Latin word Balneolis which means a lagoon: 2000 years ago, the river spread from the Puig del Mas Bridge to the sea, forming a large lagoon. The inhabitants used to make a living from wheat-growing, olive trees, honey, livestock farming and a bit of fishing.

- Around 400 BC. : Celts and Greeks occupied the coast
- Around 218 BC. : Hannibal and his army crossed the Pyrenees through the Perthus, Massane and Banyuls passes.
- Around 500 AD. : After the collapse of the Roman Empire, the Visigoths invaded the region and the large region of Narbonne became the Gothie; this word first turned into Gothalane, then Catalonia.
- In 718 : The Arabs entered into the Roussillon, but Roland chased them in 759.
- In 874 : Several feudal counties joined their forces to form a Catalan state, which in 1172 was dominated by the Kings of Aragon.

- In the 18th century, the vineyard gradually developed.
- In 1880, thanks to the construction of a railway, Banyuls opened up. At the beginning of the 20th century, tourism appeared.

Today, the commune, which covers some 4,200 hectares, has nearly 5,000 inhabitants and almost three times as many during summertime. Its two great resources are tourism and of course the wine, whose appellation Banyuls, Banyuls Grand Cru and Collioure proudly carry the notoriety of the town around the world.

SIGNAL TOWERS

The Madeloc Tower

Built in 1286, it used to be a relay station between South Catalonia and North Catalonia.

With its circular shape, it was used both as a protection and observation place. Its internal diameter is 4,45 meters, and its walls are 2 meters thick.

There are two levels with loopholes. The global height of the Madeloc Tower is 17,50 meters. The mountain is 653 meters at its highest point, 10 kms from Banyuls village center. It is surrounded by a ring of 22 strong consoles. The vaults crossing must be done through stairs with huge steps made of stone and fixed in the wall. The tower was in direct contact with the Massane tower, the Rois de Majorque Castle and Leucate.

ALEXANDRE OLIVA'S MADONNA

In the parish church Saint Jean Baptiste, 50 meters from the village center. This is a work of art by the Catalan sculptor Alexandre Oliva, and is the only relic of the former Spanish church, which was demolished in 1971.

MANOLO VALIENTE STATUES

Spanish painting and sculpting artist (1909 -1991). One of the statues is present at the North of the village and another one at the South; one sculpture on the seafront plus another statue near the kindergarten "La Phine".

COL DE BANYULS BANYULS PASS

Protected area in the Banyulenc hinterland, natural boundary with Spain, which is nearby. Located at 8 kms from the village center, it was the place where an epic battle took place in 1793, between the Banyulencs and the Spanish army.

Scientific and educational aquarium of Banyuls-sur-Mer

After moving to new spaces at the end of 2017 and a complete restructuring, the Aquarium is entering a new era, in line with the aspirations of its time: enhancement of local living heritage, respect for animal welfare and presentation of major environmental issues. Nearly 300 emblematic species of the Catalan coast (groupers, seahorses, jellyfishes, corals...) evolve in decorations created to represent natural environments as faithfully as possible. Beyond a simple aquarium, it is a real scientific journey that is offered here, with interactive devices for young and old. Thanks to an original foray behind the scenes of the research laboratories of the Oceanological Observatory, it offers a unique experience in Europe.

The Garden

MEDITERRANEAN GARDEN OF MAS DE LA SERRE

Located in an exceptional setting, offering a splendid view the valley of the Baillaury, the Mediterranean Garden presents more than 500 plant species, local or originating from areas subject to the Mediterranean climate (South Africa, California etc.).

Visitors can discover on three hectares different spaces:

Terraces overlooking the valley of the Baillaury and their associated ornamental themes.

A discovery trail and its natural management of the environment.

Exhibition spaces to better understand the terrestrial biodiversity of the Eastern Pyrenees.

Thanks to this preserved environment, the garden is home to a diverse fauna associated with plant species (insects, amphibians, etc.), making it an ideal playground for naturalists, photographers and scientists!

Please note that the site is hardly accessible to people with reduced mobility and inadequate for the pushchair by its layout (stairs and stone paths)

Open during Spring and Summer. For the detailed program of activities and the opening hours of the Garden, visit our website www.biodiversarium.fr or do not hesitate to call us. Guided tours are by reservation only. The program is also available at the Tourist Office of Banyuls-sur-Mer.

CHAPELLE NOTRE DAME DE LA SALETTE

Route du Balcon de Madeloc - 4 km from the city center. In Banyuls, the first caresses of the sunlight are destined to the white Salette Chapel, which occupies a privileged place in the Banyulenes' heart.

It was in 1863, that the very pious Bonaventure Reig had it built, certainly following a pilgrimage to Notre Dame de la Salette, a basilica located in Salette-Fallavaux, commune of Isère where, in 1846, two young shepherds, Melanie and Maximin had an apparition. Sitting on a hill, at an altitude of 200 m, it overlooks Banyuls. Behind the altar is a narrow sacristy. Celebration: every year at the beginning of September there is a pilgrimage with Mass and country meals that brings together many believers. Ascent to the Chapel from the Tourism Office: 45 minutes. (Find more information in our Tourism Office) Panoramic view of Banyuls and the coast.

ROMAN CHURCH OF THE RECTORY – 11TH AND 12TH CENTURY

Charles de Foucault Street. The first chapel built on Banyuls territory was The Mas des Abeilles'. The church La Rectorie was only built in the 11th Century. This Roman church, surrounded by graves and cypresses, can be recognized by its charming old schist walls. Harmonious despite its rough symmetry, the little steeple outlines its dark lines against the blue sky. The whole thing gives an impression of purity and stillness. Above the gate, we can see 12th Century sculptures. There are exactly the same ones on the Trinity Church's front.

This old church, dedicated to Saint-Jean-Baptiste (the Banyuls' Saint Patron) was and remains the witness of passed centuries, the reflection of life, the soul of the bell tower, guardian of our traditions, and guardian of our ancestors. The church was registered as a historical monument a few years ago. The first works to restore it were executed in 1963-64 by means of : the Restoration Committee created in 1963. (All the inhabitants answered to the Committee call), and thanks to local councils and to the Beaux-Arts department. By dint of the Committee, new and long steps succeeded in August 1965: They could at last bring this work to completion and the paving of the square, and the renewal of the cemetery door with a wrought iron gate. Thus, this monument of our historical, artistic and spiritual heritage regained its value, in a both real and imaginary setting, and with its moving piety took back its rightful place.

It stretches over 6.5 km of coast between Banyuls-sur-Mer and Cerbere and extends for 2 km offshore. It has two levels of protection: a protected area corresponding to the largest area of the area, which is almost 600 hectares where human activities are regulated, and an enhanced protection area of 65 hectares where all human activities are prohibited.

Each year, the Marine Reserve carries out monitoring exercises, scientific follow-ups, pedagogical activities and manages the reception of users and the public.

COMMIT
TO A SUSTAINABLE
CITY
WITH YOU

Our activities at the service of the environment

WORKING TOGETHER TO MEET
THE CHALLENGES OF TOMORROW

For several years now, the city of Banyuls has been committed to preventing plastic pollution and has chosen to go further and achieve the UN Sustainable Development Goals by 2030.

SDGs What are the

OBJECTIFS DE DÉVELOPPEMENT DURABLE

The 17 Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs or Agenda 2030) were adopted in September 2015 by 193 countries at the United Nations, following the Millennium Development Goals (MDGs). These 17 aims are not limited to protecting the environment as one might think, but cover a wide range of subjects such as quality education, health and well-being, ending poverty and inequality, sustainable cities, aquatic life, gender equality or peace and effective institutions....

The SDGs are a framework for action, a tool for raising awareness, a source of economic opportunities and a lever for multi-stakeholder collaboration. This is a real opportunity to act in the territories, our territory.

To do this, the city has decided to take on 6 challenges related to the SDGs and its territorial project whose challenge 2: A city that preserves its territory in synergy with biodiversity. The city invites its inhabitants and visitors to become an actor of the ecological transition. Some of our actions are presented in this guide.

Banyuls goes green

A highlight is organized on the occasion of World Environment Day on the first weekend of June, in partnership with the Banyuls Oceanological Observatory and Plastic@Sea: «Banyuls goes green». The aim is to raise public awareness of the importance of pollution caused by abandoned waste from household packaging (80% of the waste found at sea comes from land). Workshops, conferences, waste collection, sorting of waste according to their characteristics throughout the city...

Check the program on the city's website or ask at the tourist office for more information and join us!

Programme non exhaustif sous réserve de modifications

On the program :

- Friday, June 2nd :
 - Workshops and show with Pescaplastiks
 - Clean Port Operation
 - Opening of the Aquarium exhibition
- Saturday 3rd June :
 - Plastics Seekers Operation
 - Film and lecture on the 50th anniversary of the Massane Forest
- Sunday, June 4th :
 - Solutions Forum

Operation Plastic Researchers

Several times a year, the city of Banyuls becomes the «laboratory» of a participatory science operation orchestrated by Plastic@Sea and the Oceanological Observatory. Review of the main lessons of this unique operation in France.

The balance is clear: single-use waste (cigarette butts, small packages, bottles...) beat the top of the pavement before reaching the sea. No big surprise, but the data collected will not only feed a national database on the evolution of pollution on the entire French coast, but also to measure the impact of targeted actions and tools that will be put in place on the ground.

SOME NUMBERS FROM THE JUNE PICKUP

Approximately 30
participants

10 654 wastes collected in 2h

About 400kg

Stop wild waste

Whether they are abandoned in nature or carried by the wind, many wastes end up in the hinterland, along roads and hiking trails. Eventually, they may end up in the sea or in our stomachs.

Many walkers, hikers, runners or cyclists make the citizen gesture of picking up the waste they encounter. To simplify their task, the city provides them with a collection kit, which is available at the hiking house, the Tourist Office and the Town Hall.

A “Stop Wild Waste” pickup kit contains :

- A pair of reusable gloves,
- two collection bags made from recycled and vegetable materials (NF Environment standard) and equipped with a double closure system (it closes with a first knot and is transported with a second), thus guaranteeing the essential technical characteristics for collecting wild waste: practicality, solidity and tightness,
- a tip sheet for safe collection of wild waste.

A huge thank you to all the participants who help to preserve your living environment!

A huge thank you to all the participants who help to preserve your living environment!

In the Mediterranean, it is the equivalent of a dump truck that is dumped every minute: today, there is as much plastic as zooplankton.

While walking keep the sorting reflex

If 80% of the waste at sea comes from land, so do the solutions!

In order to continue the sorting process outside the home, Banyuls equipped the seafront esplanade with innovative urban containers. Connected by solar energy, they enable to:

1. Sort

Promote recycling through 6 sorting points installed on the main places of nomadic consumption (beach exits and waterfront)

2. Compact

Optimize storage and collection thanks to automated compaction, they contain up to 6 times their volume.

3. Alert

Provide continuous service and avoid overflows that end up in the sea, through real-time monitoring of their fill rate.

Storms Bac

No tides in Banyuls but frequent storm episodes between November and March, during which the sea «returns to the sender» of many wastes it deposits on the beaches. To respond to this phenomenon, it is during this period that storm bins are available on the central beach.

The waste collected is regularly sorted, characterized and sent to the appropriate recycling facilities. THESE BINS ARE NOT GARBAGE! It is forbidden to deposit your picnic remains or sacks of canine droppings, for example, only the waste of human origin brought back by the sea.

By adopting this reflex, we become actors in the cleanliness of beaches and ensure the preservation of marine ecosystems.

WHAT IS A STORM BOX?

Simply a «big box» in which walkers can deposit the waste they have picked up during their walk on the beach. Inside will be deposited only polluting marine waste: plastics, ropes, pieces of nets, scrap metal, plastics, textiles, tires, cardboard, etc... Leaves, algae or driftwood as for them, being part of part of the ecosystem, must remain on the beach. The collected waste is regularly sorted, characterized and directed to the appropriate recycling systems.
